

Ash Ashutosh

Biography

Ash Ashutosh is CEO of Actifio, Inc. A 25 year veteran of the Storage industry, Ash was previously a Partner at Greylock Partners, and the Chief Technologist for HP's StorageWorks division.

Ash has been a serial entrepreneur, with a proven track record of delivering market leading solutions, for about 15 years. He Co-Founded and led AppIQ, a market leader of Storage Resource Management (SRM) solutions, acquired by HP at the end of 2005. He was also the founder of Serano Systems, a Fibre Channel controller solutions provider, acquired by Vitesse Semiconductor in 1999. Ash was the Senior Vice President at StorageNetworks, industry's first Storage Service Provider.

Ash is a recognized leader and architect in the storage industry where he has spearheaded several major industry initiatives and led the authoring of numerous storage industry standards. Ash is an avid fan of entrepreneurship and an advisor and board member for several commercial and non-profit organizations.

Ash holds a degree in Electrical Engineering and a Masters degree in Computer Science from Penn State University.