Dear mentor volunteers -

Thank you for volunteering to participate in the HBS Student-Alumni Healthcare Mentor Program! We are thrilled with your collective willingness to engage with HBS students.

We are writing to let you know that students have selected their mentors. Because there were fewer students than alumni who opted into the program, it was not possible to match all the alumni who signed up. As a result, we were unable to match you with a student this year.

As a gesture of our gratitude, you will be receiving a HBS Healthcare Initiative scarf in the mail. If the address you want us to send it to is not the same as the one on your alumni profile at http://www.alumni.hbs.edu/, please contact Erin Duffy (eduffy@hbs.edu) by Nov. 12.

On behalf of the Healthcare Initiative, we want to thank you once again for volunteering. We hope that you will be a part of the HBS Healthcare Mentor Program next year. In the meantime, there are many other ways to get involved with healthcare at HBS. If you are willing to participate in networking events such as small dinners or coffee chats to meet with MBA students interested in healthcare or your company, please provide your contact information here.

Thank you,

Richard Hamermesh, HBS Healthcare Initiative Faculty Chair
Cara Sterling, HBS Healthcare Initiative Director
Erin Duffy, HBS Healthcare Initiative Coordinator
Manoj Patel, VP Alumni, HBS Healthcare Club
Jon Puz, VP School and Student Relations, HBS Health Industry Alumni Association

HBS HEALTHCARE INITIATIVE

The Healthcare Initiative at Harvard Business School is a multidisciplinary program dedicated to innovative thinking in the healthcare industry. Launched in 2005, the Initiative brings together the extensive research, thought leadership, and interest in the business and management of healthcare that exists at HBS.

For more information on the Healthcare Initiative, see our web site: www.hbs.edu/healthcare.

If you do not wish to receive periodic updates from the HBS Healthcare Initiative, please send an email to healthcare_initiative@hbs.edu, with "UNSUBSCRIBE" in the subject line.
