100. Over the course of a year, that’s how many working papers and academic publications our doctoral students will publish. Students collaborate with faculty and each other on research, writing, and teaching that ultimately has an impact on the business world. The diverse student body—from a broad range of undergraduate majors—brings truly diverse thinking that will someday go on to inspire better products, solve problems in new ways, and grow businesses and economies. Indeed, the core difference of our Doctoral Programs is that we care about practice. Learn more at: www.hbs.edu/doctoral
