

“Conceptions of Ethics in the Cannabis Industry: The Case of Boston, MA.”

Work in progress exploring the consumer demand for and conceptualizations of social, economic, and environmental ethics in the emerging cannabis industry, and the private sector’s and civil society’s response. Draws on interviews and fieldwork from Portland, OR, Denver, CO, and (primarily) Boston, MA. Project will likely involve hiring of research assistants to help with Boston-based fieldwork, and is unfolding in close partnership with Elizabeth Bennett and other leading scholars in this subject area.
